

Training

Can you help train my leaders and congregation?

The simple answer to this question is YES.

In fact that is why we exist.

Church Leaders often bring in outside help to encourage and equip their congregation for engagement with the local community. In our experience there are times when it is easier for someone from outside to introduce the necessary training.

As leaders we sensed something was missing. We knew what we wanted to do but didn't know how to go about it!

The Entheos Trust has decades of experience and expertise to help your church engage in holistic mission within its local community:

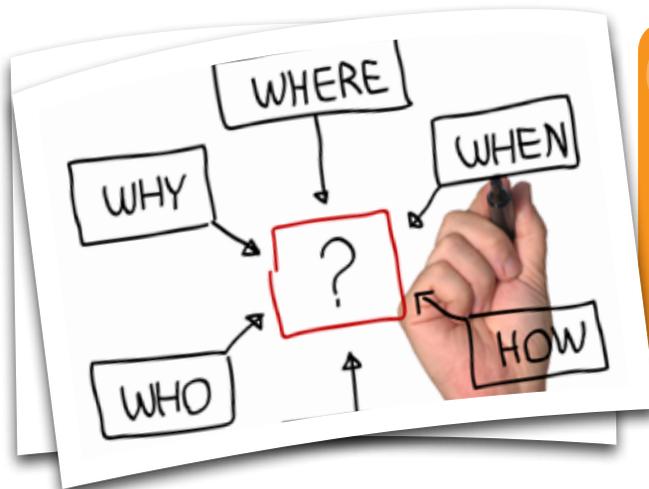

We can help you with:

Project Management

Members of The Entheos Team have helped arrange some of the largest Christian events to have taken place in the United Kingdom, such as Spring Harvest; Bringing Home the Prodigals and the Engage Events.

We have also helped churches organise new initiatives as they reach out in mission in their locality.

As such we are able to offer practical support and advice as you start your new project. Often it's the mistakes we make at the start, because of the things we didn't know, that cause us the greatest difficulty later on.

The Entheos Trust will help local churches to serve their communities with firmly rooted Christian faith and professionalism. Richard and his team have demonstrated the same qualities in all they have done so far in seeking and serving the Kingdom of God. Rev Elfed Godding, National Director of Evangelical Alliance Wales

We would love to help you get your project started.

Mission Consultancy

Richard Hardy has over 25 years' experience in leading churches into community engagement.

He helped the Baptist Union develop and deliver its successful Mission Consultancy Programme. He has recently participated in revamping and re-launching this resource under the name Re-focus.

He has a Masters' in Mission Consultancy and has acted as consultant for dozens of churches.

As Head of Church Relations for Care for the Family he was the chief architect of the 'Engage' initiative that inspired thousands of Church Leaders to engage their communities.

I have known Richard Hardy for over 20 years and have seen him grow as a pastor with a heart for the local church. He brings a wealth of experience in enabling churches to engage with their community and I warmly commend his inspirational ministry Rev. David Coffey - BMS World Mission

We would love to walk with your church through a process of mission consultancy.

Leading a Church through Change:

Most Church Leaders want to see their churches fulfil Jesus mandate to go in mission.

They know for that to happen things need to change but fear the congregation's response.

The Entheos Team has helped many churches navigate change. They have walked alongside churches as they take their first steps to change. They have also led churches long term through the process. The advice they can offer and the training they give is practical and realistic – it works!

Having worked alongside Richard Hardy, I am aware of his passionate concern to see local churches engaging with their local communities. Through the Entheos Trust he is able to help leaders and churches work through the relevant issues both Biblically and practically. Richard is a practitioner and brings experience, warmth, vision and encouragement. I am happy to commend his ministry.

Rev Ian Coffey - Vice Principal (Strategy) and Director of Leadership Training, Moorlands College.

We can help you balance the competing demands of mission and ministry.

Learning from Business and Nature:

Churches are not the only organisations that have had to adapt to change.

In business and nature new discoveries have led to major shifts in thinking. Many of which can help churches become more effective in mission.

With backgrounds in management and commercial leadership the Entheos Team have adapted many of the new models found in the world of business and applied them to a church context.

We can help you apply these lessons in your church..

I am excited that Richard Hardy is making his skills and insights available to churches. He has a profound knack for marrying the 'big picture' with the detailed plans that will bring about results. His enthusiasm and passion for setting churches free to pursue God's goals will, I am sure, help many, many churches achieve lasting impact. ” Lyndon Bowring, Chair of Care

Engaging Community without Experiencing Burn-Out:

Church Leaders often feel the pressure of competing demands. They would love to see their church more effectively engaged in mission, but cannot imagine how this can happen without adding further stress to an already busy life.

Every member of the Entheos Team has been in Church Leadership. We understand the pressures and have each proven that it is possible to lead a church into effective engagement and not burnout in the process. Let us help your ministry stay fresh and fruitful.

Richard Hardy is a proven minister of the Gospel who has thought a lot and experienced a lot when it comes to the engagement of the churches with their communities. I commend him with confidence. ”
Revd Dr Nigel G. Wright, Principal, Spurgeon's College.

For more information on any of the ways The Entheos Trust can help train your team or congregation contact us.

Who are The Entheos Trust?

We encourage church leaders and enable congregations to engage with their communities in practical mission.

The Entheos Trust started in 2010. We offer practical help and professional advice to churches of any denomination and none. We have a wide range of denominational and professional experience covering areas such as practical theology; project management & mission consultancy. Every team member has been in church leadership.

The Entheos Trust is a charity.

For further information about The Entheos Trust get hold of a copy of our Who are we Brochure.

For more information

Email: mail@theentheostrust.org
Web: www.theentheostrust.org
Phone: 029 2031 0171
Twitter: @EntheosTrust
Facebook: facebook.com/EntheosTrust

